

Dolly Parton Imagination Library

In March 2000, the Dolly Parton Imagination Library began providing free books to children under five to ensure that all children – regardless of their family’s income – are prepared to succeed in school. This program not only supports early reading skills and literacy, but it also provides activities for parents and children to do together to strengthen the social and emotional foundations of young children.

How does it work?

Each month, registered children receive a brand new, age appropriate book in the mail until they turn five. In their very last month of the program, they receive Look Out Kindergarten, Here I Come by Nancy Carlson. To learn more, click here.

In 2011, United Way of Northern New Jersey, Morris County worked with volunteers and the Wharton community to bring the Dolly Parton Imagination Library to local children. For more information see links below, email Kathy Kwasnik or call 973.993.1160, x130.

Wharton, NJ Afilliate

http://imaginationlibrary.com/usa/affiliates_result.php?affiliate_id=1071&zipcode=7885

Themes and Concepts

<http://imaginationlibrary.com/usa/themes.php>

FAQs

<http://imaginationlibrary.com/usa/faqs.php>

Media Center

http://imaginationlibrary.com/usa/media_center.php

